

CALLING ALL WHO WORK WITH LONDON'S ARMED FORCES COMMUNITY

What do you think about the support available for veterans and their families in London?

What would make life better for the city's Armed Forces community?

The Poppy Factory is leading a programme to help improve services for the Armed Forces community in London.

We're asking those who work within statutory services and charitable organisations that support veterans and their families to give their views on how services might be improved.

We have c. £600k in funding from The Armed Forces Covenant Fund Trust to spend on projects that will benefit veterans and their families across the capital.

This consultation will help shape a strategic plan for London.
