

CALLING LONDON VETERANS & ARMED FORCES FAMILIES

What is it like to live in London as a veteran?

What would make life better for the city's Armed Forces community?

If you have views that you're happy to share, we'd like to hear from you.

The Poppy Factory is leading a programme to help improve services for the Armed Forces community in London.

We're asking veterans and their families to give their views on how services might be improved.

We have c. £600k in funding from The Armed Forces Covenant Fund Trust to spend on projects that will benefit veterans and their families across the capital.

This consultation will help shape a strategic plan for London.
